World Happiness

I am interested working in World Happiness project, I want to find out why many people are facing problems of unhappiness and how could we help them to finish their problems. As we all know that today the world is facing may problems such poverty, Wars and many new diseases so Today, people are struggling with many hardships and problems in life, especially in third world countries like Afghanistan, Syria, Iran, etc. Most of the people have not faced the joys of life in their lives, and if they have sometimes felt happy it has happened for a very short time and today even in the first world like America, Europe and Australia, people are facing problems in life and mostly it has caused psychological distress or misbehavior in people. Nowadays, the United Nations provides a lot of help to identify the causes and to solve the problems of people's lives, for example, in Afghanistan, the reason why the people are not happy is poverty and hunger. Global health and other organizations so that with their help they can offer people a comfortable life and to some extent happiness. In other countries like America and Europe the United Nations has created various laws and offices to solve people's problems and make them happy. There are many researches regarding to World Happiness but as I studied the two most effective research I found was World Happiness REPORT Edited by John Helliwell, Richard Layard and Jeffrey Sachs(Helliwell, Layard, and by John Helliwell 2012) and Representing Happiness: A comparative study of media coverage of the World Happiness Report (Rowan 2023). I want to use the world happiness project dataset that includes the 2015- 2019 records in order to find the way or predict the future percentage of happiness and solution for the unhappiness of people. So in this project I am going to use machine learning algorithms and find out or predict the future happiness percentages and other details related to the World Happiness csv file.
